

Announcing the new Xerox DocuMate 3920 Network Scanner

Simplifies Secure Document Capture and Information Sharing

Guildford, UK, 19th November 2010 –

Visioneer and Xerox have today announced the Xerox DocuMate® 3920, a new duplex colour network scanner which supports small to medium workgroups and offices. Using either the flatbed or 50-page automatic document feeder (ADF), users can scan both sides of a document to email, a network folder, fax recipient, FTP location or printer. The large LCD touch screen clearly displays all operation modes and the soft QWERTY keyboard makes data entry fast and easy. The Xerox DocuMate 3920 provides secure multi-user access and easy administration through an embedded form-based web page configuration and standard Ethernet connection.

The Xerox DocuMate 3920 scans documents at 20 ppm or 14 ipm in duplex. It supports LDAP (lightweight directory access protocol) for direct access to Microsoft® Exchange Server email directories and SMTP (Simple Mail Transfer Protocol) server support so that small businesses without elaborate Exchange servers or large IT departments can configure their scan-to-email with internet and ISP based mail services. The built-in Ethernet connection gives the device full or limited network privileges via a simple web-based network management tool.

“Direct connect scanners are a vital part of a document capture strategy but now network scanners can meet shared scanner needs with great efficiency and ease of use” said Peter Trapmore, EMEA Sales Director. “Network accessible scanning provides many benefits to an organisation, including providing the ability for the scanner to be located in a centrally convenient location without a PC connected and also the scanner can access broad network connections and workflows.”

The Xerox DocuMate 3920 Network Management Tool allows the administrator to easily configure one or multiple devices on the network. The form-driven web page allows easy creation of up to 2000 email addresses and 50 filing destinations to support document scanning workflows at the device and on the network.

The Xerox DocuMate 3920 is priced at £1,452.00 (ex VAT) RRP and is available immediately across Europe – for a complete list of resellers please visit:
